INTRODUCTION

The UK Athletics (UKA) and the Home Country Athletics Federations (HCAF) Codes of Conduct set out national standards of conduct for all clubs, coaches, officials, volunteers and athletes in the sport. The 2021 revised codes take account of developments in national policy, guidance and practice.

Every club, club member and anyone undertaking a relevant role must agree to abide by the codes of conduct either when they join a club as part of the club application process, or when they renew their club membership or UKA licence.

WHAT ARE THE CODES?

The purpose of a code is to clarify:

- what behaviours are acceptable and unacceptable
- the standards of practice expected
- the basis for challenging and improving practice.

The codes are therefore a guide for individuals and clubs to think about, and monitor, how they, and others, conduct themselves in their roles. The codes let everyone know what they can expect from the club, coaches and volunteers, but also what standard of behaviour is expected from club members, athletes and parents/carers.

The codes are a tool for continuous improvement. They can be used prior to or during training sessions, at club or team meetings, and must form part of new member inductions, and at annual renewal of membership.

For all clubs, the codes are an important part of monitoring and improving the behaviour and practice of its members. When a club member does not meet the expectations set out in the codes, disciplinary or performance management action may be taken by the club.

Adopting and communicating clear codes of conduct is an important element in delivering the standards for child wellbeing and protection in sport.

CHILDREN AND YOUNG PEOPLE (UNDER 18 YEARS)

Children and young people have their own codes of conduct and should be clear about their club's expectations in terms of acceptable behaviour and conduct. It can be beneficial to ask children in their group/team to discuss and agree what the consequences of breaking these codes should be for them. This could be done at the start of the year, before a trip away from home, or as part of a training event.

For groups of very young children, it can be useful to have them develop together a specific behaviour code or charter for their group. Such charters are used extensively in primary schools and the children will recognise and understand what they are being asked to do.

1. CLUB SAFEGUARDING CODE OF CONDUCT

Every club committee has a responsibility to implement and communicate codes of conduct, as well as relevant policies and processes which link to the codes.

The Safeguarding section of the UKA and relevant Home Country governing body websites contain examples of the documents listed below.

Affiliated clubs must:

- adopt the UKA and HCAF Child Safeguarding Policy and Child Safeguarding Procedures, and ensure they are displayed prominently on websites and social media pages
- adopt the UKA and HCAF Adult Safeguarding Policy and Adult Safeguarding Procedures, and ensure they are displayed prominently on websites and social media pages
- adopt the UKA and HCAF Codes of Conduct and ensure they are signed up to by those working and volunteering in regulated roles, parents/carers and athletes (clubs that have online membership processes, or utilise third party sites, must make sure the process includes a section for the applicant to read and agree to abide by the codes of conduct)
- adopt the UKA and HCAF procedures for managing safeguarding concerns
- adopt a disciplinary process for managing misconduct cases
- appoint a minimum of one Welfare Officer in line with UKA guidelines and role description for Club Welfare Officers
- ensure that all coaches and volunteers are recruited safely and are operating appropriately within the club environment (i.e. that they hold appropriate up-to-date qualifications and licences, have undertaken a satisfactory criminal record check, and are adhering to the safeguarding policies, terms and conditions of their licence and the relevant codes of conduct)
- ensure that coaches, technical officials and club officers attend recommended safeguarding training every three years
- adopt an induction process for new members that includes agreeing and signing up to the codes of conduct, safeguarding policies, discipline policy, anti-bullying policies and other relevant information
- liaise appropriately with parents/carers, officials, coaches, UKA, the relevant HCAF and other relevant people/organisations to ensure that good practice is maintained
- maintain a register of safeguarding training attended and criminal record checks completed relevant to club members, and share this register with the HCAF when asked
- ensure that contact details for Club Welfare Officers and relevant agencies are openly displayed in club environs and on club websites, and made available to anyone who requires them
- ensure that club officers and volunteers act responsibly and set an example to others, especially younger members
- respect the rights, dignity and worth of every club member and others involved in athletics

- develop an environment that promotes the wellbeing and safety of athletes above other considerations, including the development of performance
- consistently promote positive aspects of the sport such as fair play and never condone rule violations or the use of prohibited or age-inappropriate substances
- accept that all office bearers and committee members have a responsibility for safeguarding children's wellbeing and protecting them from harm, and are prepared to respond to any concerns of abuse or poor practice
- challenge and change poor practice
- implement any recommendations of UK Athletics or the relevant HCAF
- promote an environment where all concerns can be raised without fear of victimisation or reprisal
- ensure that everyone volunteering or working with children or adults at risk at their club attends relevant safeguarding training every three years.

2. CODE OF CONDUCT: COACHES

Coaches play a crucial role in the development of athletics and in the lives of the athletes they coach. They have a unique position of trust in athletics and the need for coaches to understand and act on their responsibilities is vital, as is the need to promote participation for fun and enjoyment.

The code of conduct for coaches reflects the principles of good coaching practice.

Responsibilities – Personal Standards

Rights

Coaches must respect and champion the rights of every individual to participate in sport and physical activity.

Place the welfare and safety of the athlete above the development of performance
